Introducing the SOLUS Range:

Breakout spaces are more than just places to relax—they are vital areas where creativity, focus, and collaboration can flourish. To truly serve their purpose, breakout spaces need furniture that balances functionality with comfort. That's where our new Solus range excels. With its soft, welcoming curves and cutting-edge design, the Solus range transforms any breakout area into a hub for both productivity and relaxation.

Soft curves are not just a design choice; they play a critical role in shaping the atmosphere of a workspace. By moving away from harsh, angular designs, the Solus range creates a calming, professional environment that feels inviting yet modern. These smooth, flowing lines reduce visual stress and encourage users to feel at ease, making the Solus ideal for breakout spaces that cater to a variety of needs.

For more dynamic needs, the Solus Booth offers flexibility like no other. In its simplest form, the booth provides a quiet, open space for quick calls or impromptu tasks. For longer, more comfortable sessions, it can be upgraded with upholstered seating, armrests, and a tablet desk. Like the Office, the Booth also includes power outlets and lighting, ensuring it is both functional and inviting. Additionally, the Booth's interior design options—timber panels, writable surfaces, and upholstered walls—mean it can seamlessly blend into any breakout space.

The Solus range isn't just furniture; it's a solution. It caters to the growing demand for adaptable, stylish, and practical spaces within the modern workplace. Whether employees need a quiet corner for focused work or a comfortable spot to recharge and regroup, Solus delivers on all fronts.
